Cathedral of the Sea is a historical epic novel by Spanish author Ildefonso Falcones. The novel tells the story of the construction of the Santa Maria del Mar Cathedral in Barcelona, Spain, in the 14th century.

The novel follows the lives of several characters who are involved in the construction of the cathedral, including Arnau Estanyol, a young man who is forced to flee his village after being accused of murder; Bernat Estanyol, Arnau's father, a master builder who is determined to build the cathedral despite the many obstacles he faces; and Francesca Esteve, a young woman who falls in love with Arnau.

Cathedral of the Sea is a beautifully written and engrossing novel that brings to life the medieval world of Barcelona. Falcones's descriptions of the city and the cathedral are so vivid that you can almost feel yourself walking through the streets and exploring the building's many nooks and crannies.

The characters in Cathedral of the Sea are complex and well-developed. Arnau is a sympathetic and relatable protagonist, and his journey from a young man on the run to a respected master builder is both inspiring and heartbreaking. Bernat is a strong and determined character, and his dedication to the cathedral is unwavering. Francesca is a complex and flawed character, but she is ultimately a survivor who finds love and happiness despite the many challenges she faces.

Cathedral of the Sea is a must-read for fans of historical fiction. It is a beautifully written and engrossing novel that will stay with you long after you finish it.
