

Match for the World Chess Championship: A Chess Book for Players and Fans

The World Chess Championship is the most prestigious event in the chess world, and this book provides an in-depth look at one of the most exciting matches in history. In 2013 and 2014, Magnus Carlsen, the reigning world champion, faced off against Viswanathan Anand, the challenger. This match was a battle of the generations, with Carlsen, aged only 22, challenging Anand, who was 43. Carlsen was the clear favorite going into the match, but Anand was not to be underestimated. He had been world champion for five years, and he was determined to keep his title.
