Ghulam Yahya's Story

Ghulam Yahya was born into a poor family in the Iraqi city of Mosul. He grew up in a violent and unstable environment, and he often witnessed the horrors of war. As he got older, he became involved in criminal activity, and he eventually ended up on death row.

On the day of his execution, Ghulam Yahya was taken to a prison courtyard. He was blindfolded and led to a spot where he would be shot. As he waited for his fate, he felt a sense of peace wash over him. He began to pray to God, and he asked for forgiveness for his sins.

Suddenly, Ghulam Yahya heard a voice. The voice told him to turn around. When he did, he saw a man standing in front of him. The man was dressed in white, and he had a long white beard. He had a kind and gentle face, and he looked at Ghulam Yahya with compassion.

"Do not be afraid," the man said. "I am Guru Nanak, and I have come to save you."

Ghulam Yahya was stunned. He had never heard of Guru Nanak, but he knew that this man was special. He felt a surge of hope and faith, and he believed that Guru Nanak would save him.

Guru Nanak reached out and touched Ghulam Yahya's head. As he did, Ghulam Yahya felt a surge of energy coursing through his body. He felt his chains fall away, and he knew that he was free.

Ghulam Yahya looked up at Guru Nanak, and he said, "Thank you for saving me."

Guru Nanak smiled and said, "You are welcome, my son. Now go and live a good life."

Ghulam Yahya left the prison and returned to his family. He told them about his experience, and they were amazed. They had never seen him so happy and so full of hope.

Ghulam Yahya kept his promise to Guru Nanak, and he lived a good life. He became a respected member of his community, and he helped others in need. He never forgot the miracle that had saved him, and he always shared his story with others.
