

Relieve Your Suffering Using the Core Skill of Dialectical Behavior Therapy

Dialectical behavior therapy (DBT) is a type of psychotherapy that can help people manage their emotions and behaviors. DBT is based on the idea that people can learn to accept themselves and their experiences, while also changing the things that are causing them suffering. One of the core skills of DBT is mindfulness, which involves paying attention to the present moment without judgment. Mindfulness can help people identify their triggers, develop coping mechanisms, and reduce their suffering.
