The 12 Lean Clean Language Processes: A Guide to Transformation

At the heart of Clean Language lie 12 Lean Processes, each meticulously crafted to address specific communication challenges. These processes are:

- Metaphors: Uncover hidden meaning and perspectives through the power of metaphors.
- Universal Clean Language Questions: Probe deeper into conversations using open-ended questions that promote self-reflection.
- Clean Questions: Craft questions that respect the client's language and avoid judgment.
- Reflective Language: Mirror back what you hear to ensure understanding and build rapport.
- Invitations: Encourage clients to explore their own thoughts and feelings.
- Multi-Sensory Language: Engage all senses to create a richer and more meaningful experience.
- Noticing: Cultivate awareness of subtle cues and patterns in communication.
- Clean Summations: Synthesize key points and provide clarity.
- Clean Cycles: Guide clients through a series of questions to facilitate self-discovery.
- Clean Contracts: Establish clear agreements and boundaries for the communication process.

- Clean Bids: Empower clients to take ownership of their communication experience.
- Clean Closure: End conversations with respect and a sense of closure.
